

Songs In The Color Of Life

Women's Folk Music of the 1960's

Tribute to Joni Mitchell and the women of her time....

From theaters to festivals, award-winning performing artist, Kim Casey, presents women's folk music of the 1960's in this memorable show:

Songs In The Color Of Life

Audiences experience a thrilling sentimental journey through select musical works of legends like Joni Mitchell, along with obscure but intriguing artists like the late Judee Sill - authentically performed on 12 alternately tuned guitars.

Documentary reflections are interwoven with the musicianship and lyrical poetry of music that defined an era.

In a male dominated industry where women struggled to be recognized and respected, this show celebrates the brilliance and endurance of women whose music stands the test of time.

Available as a solo performance (including all 12 guitars!), or with a full band accompaniment.
